

A black and white photograph showing a person's hands. One hand is holding a hard hat, and the other is pointing at a set of architectural blueprints. The blueprints feature technical drawings of a building structure, including a crane and various lines and annotations. The text is overlaid on the left side of the image.

Corporate Identity
A strong, effective corporate identity should be seen as an investment in the future of any organisation, whatever its size or status.

Exhibition Management
Increasingly, organisations are beginning to outsource this demanding, time-critical function.

Product Literature

In technical and service led markets, information, in the form of printed literature can be a powerful tool. But the messages need to be pitched correctly for your specific audience.

CPD

Experienced in all aspects of the RIBA Continuing Professional Development programme, we write, run and present CPD seminars that meet the requirements of the rigorous RIBA assessment and approval process.

Website Development

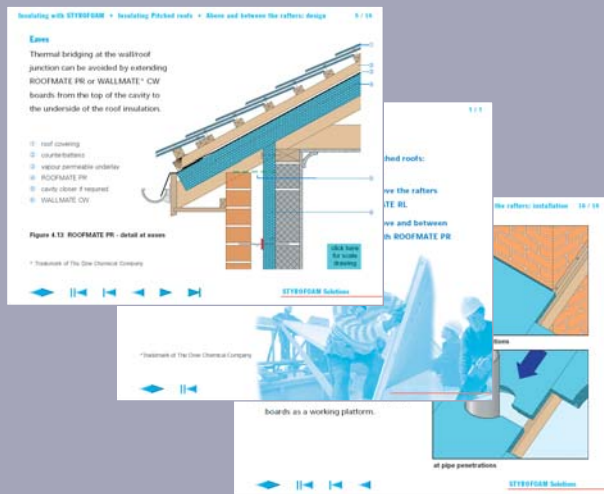

A website is a way of linking your business to the online community interested in your business. Getting it wrong is expensive. People want to find online, not search online.

BRUNDLE
Wholesale Distributors of metal products since 1887

F.H. Brundle is one of the country's leading wholesale suppliers of wrought iron, mesh and steel products. Operating out of four major distribution centres in the UK, the company will continue the commercial values that have been its trademark for so long: consistent service, attention to detail, quality and fast turnaround.

CD - ROM production

Demand is increasing for the writing and production of CD-ROM's and ROM-Card's, for both specialist CPD work and in support of general marketing activity.

Photography

Quality architectural photography can make all the difference to a Press Release, a Case Study or a Website. Using a regular team of experienced photographers, we define the brief, arrange and direct the shoot.
